

Media Invited to Preview “Faces of the 1st” on May 23

Tour the First Division Museum’s summer exhibit, take photos, conduct interviews and meet the staff members who planned and produced the show

WHEN: Thursday, May 23
10 am (or by appointment throughout the day)

WHERE: First Division Museum at Cantigny Park
1s151 Winfield Road
Wheaton, IL 60189

WHAT: “Faces of the 1st” is the museum’s multimedia summer exhibit, opening to the public on May 25 and running through Sept. 2. Admission is free to the public with paid parking ($5).

The exhibit, more than a year in the making, tells the fascinating personal stories of 17 soldiers who served in the U.S. Army’s 1st Infantry Division, known as the Big Red One. Veterans profiled in the exhibit have served our nation in every major conflict since World War I.

Details about the exhibit are online at Facesofthe1st.org. The site highlights the stories, photos and artifacts of the men and women whose first-hand experiences and memories are brought to life at the museum.

RSVP: Please contact Gayln Piper (see below) if you plan to attend the media preview or wish to make an appointment.

PARKING: When entering the park, please identify yourself as media.
Security will direct you. Parking for media is always complimentary.

CONTACT: Gayln Piper
Director of Publications
First Division Museum at Cantigny Park
630.260.8130
gpiper@firstdivisionmuseum.org
firstdivisionmuseum.org