Vietnam Filmmaker Ron Osgood Visits October 10

Award-winning documentary, “Just Like Me,” will be shown and discussed

Wheaton, Ill., October 1, 2018 — The First Division Museum at Cantigny Park welcomes award-winning documentary filmmaker and Vietnam veteran Ron Osgood on Wednesday, October 10.

The free presentation inside the Cantigny Visitors Center begins at 7 pm. Parking also is complimentary.

Osgood will introduce and screen the 2017 film, “Just Like Me: The Vietnam War – Stories from All Sides.” A Q&A session will follow the documentary. Osgood produced and directed the film, earning a regional Emmy in June.

“Just Like Me” documents the Vietnam War from the perspective of North Vietnamese, South Vietnamese and U.S. soldiers, as well as civilians. The film follows Osgood in his quest to recover fragmented and buried stories from the controversial war. Perceptions of “enemy” and “foe” begin to shift as the program unfolds, and key patterns reverberate through themes of loss, love, memory and healing. The shared experience of the war becomes a realm to be explored, rather than avoided.

Osgood is Professor Emeritus at the Indiana University Media School in Bloomington. He taught courses in video design and production and currently instructs a documentary film course for the Indiana University Honors College.

Doors open at 6:30 pm on October 10. A cash bar and limited food menu will be available. Coffee is free.

This event is part of the First Division Museum’s Date with History, an ongoing series featuring lively discussions with authors, panelists, historians and special guests. Information about upcoming programs is online at fdmuseum.org.
